Thought you'd enjoy these photos. As you can see, there's a good degree of community involvement.....might make for a good SHCRP site.

Bristol Bay fellow travellers -- Attached is a link to my photos of the trip. They are all geotagged, so -- with the right software -- you should be able to tell where each was taken. If you have trouble viewing or downloading these let me know.

These photos are for your personal use. I'll work with the Region's public affairs folks to determine which are appropriate for wider distribution by EPA.

Thanks again for taking the time to visit my (temporary) state and to experience the landscape, communities, and environment that would be affected by large scale development in these watersheds. And very special thanks to Tami and Patty for coordinating the extensive and unusual logistics required to get us all around the region. It was an amazing and informative trip for me.
